LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to the New Year and our revamped monthly newsletter!

We're excited to kick off the year with a fresh format that will help keep you informed about all the exciting developments happening here at Eastern. This newsletter is one of the many ways we're working to strengthen communication and celebrate the incredible things taking place on campus.

In recent months, we've expanded student activities, made significant improvements to campus buildings, enhanced our farm and equipment, and are actively working to add new certifications and degree programs. It's truly an exciting time to be a Mountaineer and I'm grateful for each of you who contribute to making Eastern such a special place.

As we move forward, I'm eager to continue working alongside our amazing Eastern family to build on the momentum we've seen in recent years. Together, we will continue to achieve great things.

I hope you enjoy reading about the many accomplishments and ongoing projects here at Eastern Oklahoma State College.

Sincerely,

Dr. Janet Wansick
President

News Release: EOSC Honors Senator Warren Hamilton with Inaugural Regents Impact Award

WILBURTON, Oklahoma — The Eastern Oklahoma State College Board of Regents presented Oklahoma State Senator Warren Hamilton with the inaugural Regents Impact Award at its January meeting. The award recognizes Sen. Hamilton's exceptional support and contributions to the college's mission of cultivating growth, creating futures, and changing lives.

The Regents Impact Award was established to honor individuals who have made significant and lasting contributions to the college. Recipients are selected based on their alignment with EOSC's core values, demonstrated leadership, and their role in fostering strategic, sustainable growth for the institution.

"On behalf of the Eastern Oklahoma State College Board of Regents, it was an honor to present Senator Warren Hamilton with the inaugural Regents Impact Award. Sen. Hamilton not only provides strong ongoing support for Eastern at the capitol but exhibited outstanding leadership in helping guide the institution through many challenges in higher education that have come our way. As we look to grow and expand our partnerships with surrounding communities, economic development initiatives, and academic degree plans to meet the needs of today's workforce, Sen. Hamilton will continue to be an integral part of the success of Eastern," said Regent Latt Jeffrey.

As a dedicated public servant, Sen. Hamilton has been instrumental in securing resources and promoting initiatives that enhance the college's programs and infrastructure. His leadership has strengthened relationships between EOSC and key stakeholders, fostering a collaborative environment that benefits students, faculty, and the broader community.

The award criteria highlight impactful contributions, innovation, sustainability, and alignment with EOSC's mission. Sen. Hamilton exemplifies these attributes through his steadfast support of education and his focus on creating opportunities for the next generation of leaders. His strategic efforts reflect a deep understanding of the importance of higher education in driving economic and social progress in the region.

"This recognition is not just a celebration of Sen. Hamilton's accomplishments but also a testament to the profound impact that dedicated individuals can have on higher education and the lives it touches," said Dr. Janet Wansick, EOSC president. E

News Release: Eastern Oklahoma State College President Announces Retirement

WILBURTON, Oklahoma — Eastern Oklahoma State College President Dr. Janet Wansick has announced her decision to retire, effective June 30, 2025. Wansick, who has served as the college's president since July 2020, made the announcement in a letter to the EOSC Board of Regents earlier this month.

During her tenure, Wansick guided EOSC through a period of growth and significant accomplishments. The college secured more than $4.5 million in grants for projects such as renovations to the Bill Hill Library, Guided Pathways programs, health and wellness initiatives, and adult degree completion. She also obtained $300,000 in ARPA funds for the nursing and respiratory therapy programs and oversaw $1.3 million in private donations to the EOSC Foundation.

Through deferred maintenance funds allocated by the state, Wansick oversaw significant improvements to the campus. These included the construction of a new 20-unit student apartment complex, a new campus laundry facility, and major renovations to Johnston Hall and Choctaw Hall dormitories. She also directed the replacement of roofs on nine campus buildings, upgrades to gutters across campus, and the installation of a comprehensive campus-wide security system. Other critical infrastructure upgrades included replacing two chillers in dormitories, another in Gunning Hall, and upgrading the HVAC control unit for the McAlester Campus, as well as replacing the roof of the Clark Bass Building. Transportation and operational capabilities were enhanced with the purchase of two 15-passenger vans, a 35-passenger bus for student travel, and a new truck for the college farm.

Wansick implemented initiatives that strengthened student and community engagement, such as the President's Leadership Class and community roundtables. Her leadership saw the launch of new programs and microcredentials, the creation of Boonies II as a student activity space, and the establishment of a hybrid online LPN-to-RN degree program to expand educational access. Her presidency brought increased enrollment and significant support for students' academic and personal success. Notably, EOSC collaborated with Connors

State College to secure a nearly $4 million federal grant to enhance academic success, career readiness, and mental health counseling for students.

"It has been a privilege to lead Eastern Oklahoma State College and work alongside an extraordinary team committed to transforming lives through education," Wansick said. "While my decision to step down was not made lightly, it reflects my need to focus on personal well-being and family after years of professional dedication."

The EOSC Board of Regents will begin a comprehensive, national search for the college's next president, with the goal of selecting a new leader by May 2025.

"Dr. Wansick's unwavering dedication to Eastern and its mission has been instrumental in shaping the institution's future," said Leland Walker, Chairman of the EOSC Board of Regents. "We thank her for her service and look forward to building on the foundation she has established."

Wansick's contributions to EOSC and her steadfast commitment to the institution's mission of "Cultivate Growth. Create Futures. Change Lives." will leave a lasting legacy. E

News Release: EOSC Judging Teams Excel at National Competitions

WILBURTON, Oklahoma — Eastern Oklahoma State College's meat and livestock judging teams have achieved significant success at recent national events, showcasing their dedication and expertise in the field.

Eastern's meat judging team earned international recognition by winning the National Western Stock Show Meat Judging Contest, held at the JBS Beef Production Facility in Greeley, Colo. The team secured first place in questions, beef judging, and lamb judging; third in beef grading; and fifth in pork judging. Eastern competed against not only teams from around the country, but against international teams, as well.

Individually, Hannah Morphis was recognized as the high individual overall, placing first in questions and lamb judging, second in beef judging and placings, and fourth in pork judging. Cadence Myers secured sixth overall, with notable placements in lamb judging and beef grading. Other team members, including Averie Bain, Bailyn Hill, Robert Kincade, Dylan Neely, Gracie Ward and Eli Whitney also delivered commendable performances.

"I am very proud of these students for their accomplishments," said Jade Edwards, meat processing & food safety instructor and meat judging coach. "The NWSS is the first AMSA-sponsored contest of the season and it is very exciting to win. The kids have been working hard since August to achieve the lofty goals they have set for themselves and I know they will continue to push for success the rest of the season."

At the Cattlemen's Congress, held from Jan. 4 to 16 in Oklahoma City, the livestock judging team distinguished itself with notable team and individual performances. The team secured sixth place in the sheep and goats category and ninth in swine. Individually, Caden Goodson achieved 12th overall and first in sheep and goats, while Kennedy Edwards placed fifth in sheep and goats.

During the National Western Stock Show, which took place from Jan. 11 to 26 in Denver, team members continued to excel. Kennedy Edwards earned 10th overall, Carson Crain secured third in feedlot cattle, and Cooper

Horn placed seventh in feedlot cattle. In the Carload Contest, the team achieved ninth in both high team and placings, with Kaden Gregory placing seventh overall and sixth in placings.

"Our students have demonstrated exceptional commitment and skill in these competitions," said Andrew Anderson, instructor of agriculture and livestock judging coach. "Their achievements reflect the hard work they've invested and the high standards we uphold at Eastern Oklahoma State College."

These accomplishments underscore EOSC's commitment to excellence in agricultural education and the dedication of its students and faculty. E

Saturday Spotlight: Jason Miller

What is your name?

Jason Miller

What is your title?

Professor of Humanities

What is your hometown?

Iowa City, IA

What is your educational background?

I have a master's degree in Theology from Wesley Biblical Seminary, as well as 20-some graduate hours of Philosophy from Baylor University.

When did you start working for Eastern?

2017

What is your favorite thing about working at Eastern or your favorite memory?

My favorite thing about working at Eastern is helping students see a larger world, through wonderful art, music, books, films, ways of thinking, and ways of believing.

What do you enjoy outside of work?

My family is my favorite thing in life and the best part of me. I also have been an Anglican priest since 2008, and on Sundays I serve St George's Anglican Church in McAlester.

What is a fun fact about you?

Our family loves art! Several years ago, traveling across Iowa, we stumbled onto the house that was the model for Grant Wood's famous 1930 painting, American Gothic. They have a little museum there and all sorts of clothes you can wear to take a picture in front of that iconic house! So the picture I'm submitting is myself and Rebecca at that house.
